Being a Father Worth Honoring

Proverbs 23:22

Pastor Jeff Hinds

CONNECT

- Have you ever been a mentor to a younger person? What was your experience like?

GROW

- Pastor Jeff reminds us that part of parenting and mentorship is to model grace seasoned with convictions, rather than railing against society, government, etc. What language can you use to voice convictions without condemnation?
- Making mistakes is part of our growing process. How difficult is/was it for you to allow your children to make mistakes? How was this handled by your parents?
- A Christ-follower is to become a more reliable sage with each passing year. What spiritual practices do you have in place to become wiser and more reliable with the passage of time?
- Who has influenced your spiritual walk? A parent? Personal mentor? Author?
- We learn this week that the Hebrew word for honor (chabad) was used in military settings. Knowing this, what does it mean to honor your father and mother?

GO

- Actively mentoring a younger person is a privilege of being a Christ-follower. If you are not involved in mentoring at the moment, how can you reach out to someone in the near future?
